BIO:

Frederic is an award-winning filmmaker and an industry recognized leader in the fields of HD production and post-production. His first feature film, TOMORROW IS TODAY starring SCOUT TAYLOR-COMPTON (Rob Zombie's Halloween and Halloween II) to date has received 12 awards including the Directorial Discovery Award from the Rhode Island International Film Festival. He has produced, directed and edited award-winning programming for CINEMAX, A&E, HISTORY & The BIOGRAPHY CHANNEL.

Frederic created LUMIERE HD, a software recognized by Apple as the only viable solution to edit HDV on their platforms for two years after the introduction of the format. He was also one of the original architects of the revolutionary RED DIGITAL CAMERA, which is now employed by leading filmmakers such as Peter Jackson and Steven Soderbergh.

He is a frequent speaker at events such as NAB, DV Expo and Macworld and has been interviewed for feature articles in trade magazines such as Post, Videography, Studio Daily, Film & Video Magazine, Videomaker and others.

Frederic's most recent work, which he produced, directed and edited is the ground-breaking ten part series, WWII IN HD which aired on History in the fall of 2009 to critical acclaim and fantastic ratings. It is narrated by GARY SINISE, with voices from RON LIVINGSTON, JOSH LUCAS, AMY SMART, LL COOL J, STEVE ZAHN, JUSTIN BARTHA and ROB LOWE.
