

Leandro Ariel Luna

BIOGRAPHY

Leandro A. Luna is a production sound mixer from Rosario, Argentina who's been in Mexico City for the past 11 years and now Los Angeles and San Francisco as well.

He has worked on TV shows like; Club de Cuervos 2 (First Netflix Originals show in Latin America), Hernán, La Cabeza de Joaquin Murrieta (Amazon Prime Video), Domador de Caballos 2, (Nat Geo), S.W.A.T (CBS), Washington Black (Hulu) and feature films like; El Habitante, Ya Veremos, En las Buenas y en las Malas, El Mesero, Vagoneros (Marioneta). He has collaborated with Supervising Sound Editor Martin Hernandez (Academy award and BAFTA nominated), Supervising Sound Editor Alejandro Quevedo (Motion Picture Sound Editors USA Winner), Miguel Angel Molina (Ariel Award Winner), Sound Designer and Mixer Randy Thom (2x Academy Award-Winner/Skywalker Ranch), Sound Designer Sergio Diaz and Director's Wanuri Kahiu, Maurice Marable, Rob Seidenglanz, Billy Gierhart, Alvaro Curiel de Icaza, Pedro Pitipol Ybarra, Fernando Rovzar, Raul Martinez, J.A. Moreno, Julian de Tavira and Norberto López Amado amongst others.

In 2017 he founded Black Tie Sound which is a production company specializing in sonic solutions for audiovisual projects, sound editing/design, mixing, production sound and acoustics.

In 2019 Randy Thom contacted Leandro and hired him to record sea lion sounds in Baja California for the sound data base at Skywalker Ranch, a Lucasfilm's Skywalker sound facility.

Leandro's personal and professional growth led him to be a case study of the renowned Mexican author and entrepreneur Eric Martinez for his new book "Conviértete en un Freelancer Chingón" (Become a real good Freelancer).
